UK Outlook for Friday 2 Jul 2021 to Sunday 11 Jul 2021:
A chance for the odd shower on Friday, but many areas dry with light winds and spells of warm sunshine. Into the weekend a band of organised rain may move into the far southwest, bringing a change to more unsettled conditions for the first half of July. Although confidence becomes lower, there is most likely to be a split between the southwest and northeast, with southern and western parts seeing some showers, and perhaps longer spells of rain, whilst the best of any dry weather remains across the north and east. Temps are likely to trend above normal, notably across some parts of the northeast. Winds remaining light to moderate for most, though possibly strong in the west at times.
